To whom it may concern,

İntaç Construction & Engineering is a design firm, which we have been collaborating with confidence in several projects. This reference letter refers to one of the projects we worked.

Atatürk Airport Baggage Handling System Development in the European side of Istanbul is one of the prestigious projects of the city. The construction of the project was taken over by our company, TAV, where İntaç Construction & Engineering provided their service in terms of design of structural steel. The architectural design was realized by Alstef (equipment provider) for a total 3400 m² structural area and 413,4 tons of weight steel material. The architectural concept initiated from the motivation of obtaining dynamic surfaces that has rendered the bearing system rather complex and irregular. It should be noted the high seismicity in the region where an active fault is just some kilometres away. The engineering team of İntaç Construction & Engineering has handled the project in a smart and effective way, they completed the design timely and within the budget by providing a comprehensive design and detailing.

I would not hesitate to write that “İntaç Engineering & Consultancy has answered all our requests timely and properly, stayed within the budget and proved its ability to work in high quality prestigious projects.”.
